Be Ready To Give When - - - "MOTHERS' MARCH"

John Larmour, acting chairman of the Arlington March of Dimes Campaign, this week announced plans for a mass march on Polio by the mothers of Arlington.

This "mothers' march" will be conducted by the Women's Division of the March of Dimes under the direction of Mary K. Boyd.

All Arlington will be aware of the drive with most of the town's private and public facilities used to arouse interest in the campaign. Every Arlington home that has its front porch lighted on the evening of January 31 will be visited by mothers, headed by Mrs. Marion McKeever of Harlow st. and Mrs. Margaret Dormitzer of Cliff st.

In the meantime, contributors can help the drive by returning the donation envelope which was mailed last week.

HELP WANTED!!

Townpeople are asked to phone Mrs. McKeever at AR 5-8360 or Mrs. Dormitzer at AR 5-2856W. Help is needed to insure the success of the "mothers' march" on Polio. The time necessary is only one hour between 6 and 8 p.m. on Wednesday, January 31.

Solicitors will not have to leave their own street and will call only upon those who invite them by lighting their porch. Two hundred mothers have volunteered and need help to make up the five hundred collectors required for the complete success of this fight.

PORCH LIGHTS ON!!

The light on porches on Wednesday night, January 31, will invite one of Arlington's polio-fighting mothers to call and receive contributions for the March of Dimes.

The "mothers' march" on polio will seek funds only from those families who show they want to help by lighting their porch lights.

MOVIES AT A DIME FOR "DIMES"

Two enterprising Brackett School youths are going to raise money for the "March of Dimes". Movies consisting of five comedies and two Westerns will be shown on Saturday mornings for only 10 cents. It is understood the popcorn "take" will be retained by the "house".

The venturesome lads are Joe Warren, 11, of 5 Cedar ave., and Bobby Reid, also 11, of 33 Puritan rd.

The first movie will be at young Warren's house next Saturday at 9:30 a.m. The following week Bobby's home will be headquarters.

Ladies as well as gents are invited.

Repentance Needed Else No Peace, Says Clergyman

A four o'clock Vesper service, culminating the Universal Week of Prayer in cooperation with the Arlington Council of Churches, was held Sunday in the Pleasant Street Congregational church.

The main auditorium was well filled. The service was conducted by the Rev. Lewis Williamson, minister of the Trinity Baptist church. The Trinity choir, under the able direction of Robert Procter at the organ, sang Shelley's "Hark, Hark, My Soul" and "Open Our Eyes", by MacFarland, contributing much to the impressive service.

Walter S. Sargent, president of the Council of Churches, introduced Dr. Harold J. Ockenga of the Park Street Congregational church of Boston, as "a Christian leader whose influence for Christianity is felt throughout the world. Formerly maintaining two missionaries, the Park Street church now has 107 workers in" (Continued on Page 5)

Dan Hooley Enters Selectman Race, Cites Long Record

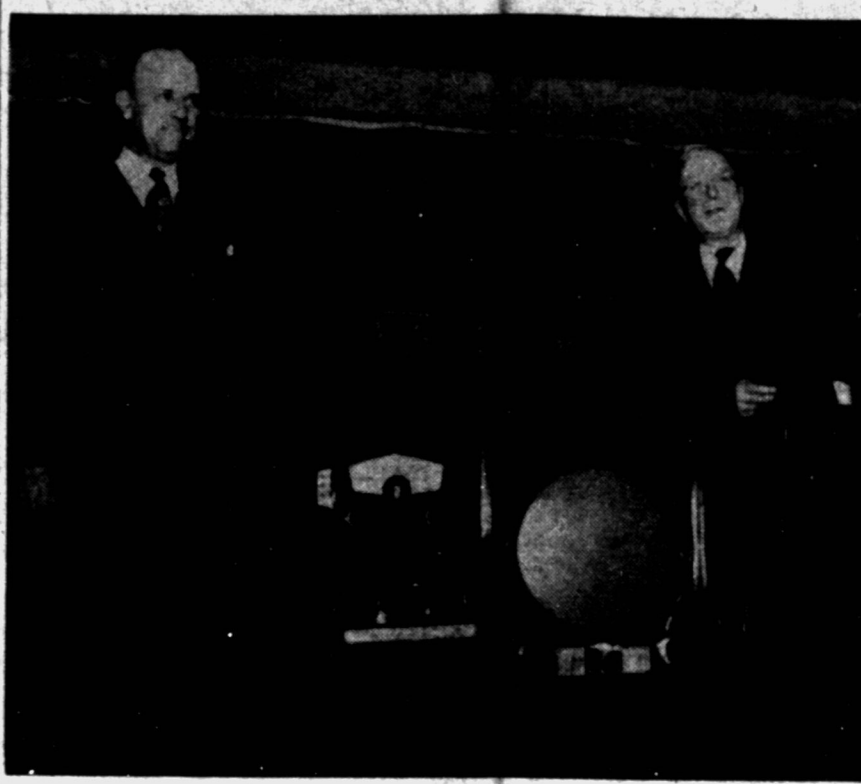

Former Park Commissioner Daniel M. Hooley of 268 Broadway has formally announced his candidacy for selectman in the March election.

Dan Hooley's family have been prominently identified with Arlington's Civic interests for more than seventy years. He is the son of the late Police Lieutenant and Mrs. Daniel M. Hooley.

Hooley, a life-long resident of Arlington, graduated from the Arlington High school, attended Suffolk Law School, graduated from the American Institute of Banking, and last June received the degree of Adjunct in Acts from Harvard University where he attained high honors in government and history.

He served for three years with the 21st Coast Artillery (A.A.) M.N.G. (the First Corps Cadets), was a member of the original Board of Directors, Arlington Community Chest, Inc., chairman of its Personnel Recruitment Committee and district chairman, Arlington Red Cross Committee.

He was chairman of Town meeting members from Prec. 3 for 15 years, member Board of Park Commissioners, 5 years, two years as chairman, and served on the Park and Playground Improvement committee. During his incumbency on the Board of Park Commissioners, Hooley cites many major developments. (Continued on Page 5)

AS A TRIBUTE to his long service on the vestry of St. John's Church, the parishioners presented Arthur O. Yeames (Right) with a magnificent tv-radio-record player set on Monday night. Mr. Yeames has served in many capacities since 1903 and retired as senior warden. He has been elected senior warden emeritus. J. Milton Washburn Jr., (left) the new senior warden, made the presentation at the annual meeting which was held during the Diamond Jubilee week of the parish.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND MUSICALS TO PRESENT FINE MUSICIANS

Committee Opposes Coasting Areas

Arlington is going to be the safest town in Massachusetts or its residents will know the reason why, say members of the Safety Committee.

At a regular meeting of the Arlington Safety Education Committee at the Town Hall on Jan. 10, Chairman Samuel Lanza presiding, local conditions considered dangerous to the safety of children and adults were discussed.

"These problems will be referred to the proper authorities, and it is hoped action will be taken and eventually a solution will result," said Lanza.

It was revealed that parents question the safety of children coasting in the areas blocked off for the purpose. It is the consensus of opinion that coasting should not be officially permitted on those streets where traffic does prevail; or that traffic be curtailed for the specified fixed coasting hours on a more acceptable choice of streets.

"It is time for action, and less 'griping' among the people," voiced the committee.

Leo Litwin, a group of distinguished soloists and the Arlington Philharmonic Society will present a musical program this Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21, at 4 p.m. at the Junior High East. Refreshments and a social hour will follow to give music enthusiasts an opportunity to become acquainted with the musicians and the Philharmonic.

Proceeds of the concert will benefit the Society's scholarship, by which several talented young musicians each year are given added training. Mr. Litwin and his associates are donating their services for this occasion.

The program will open with Mendelssohn's "Trio in D minor." Phyllis Spence, concert mistress of the Philharmonic Society orchestra and chairman of the scholarship committee will take the violin part. Charlotte Davies and Richard Hough complete this well-known trio at the cello and piano.

Important Notice TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Arlington Public Works Department

In order that streets may be cleared and normal traffic resumed, automobile owners are requested to co-operate with the Board of Public Works by not parking automobiles on the highways during and after snow storms while plowing and removal work is in progress. In the past, automobiles parked on both public and private ways have greatly hampered the Public Works Department in its snow work.

Your co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

Mahoney Decries "Small Group" Gov't

"Let the people decide what form of government they wish to be represented by," said candidate for Selectman Robert E. Mahoney of 260 Broadway, this week.

Hughes Withdraws

In a letter to the Advocate yesterday, Frank J. Hughes, prominent plumbing and heating contractor, of 166 Franklin st., announced withdrawal of his candidacy for the Board of Public Works.

"I wish to announce my withdrawal as a candidate for the Board of Public Works in the forthcoming March election."

"At the time I took out my nomination papers for this important Board, I felt I would have the time to devote to the duties of the office. However, in the past week I have lost the services of two key men in my firm, one to the army, the other to illness. I now feel I shall have to devote more time and energy to fill the void caused by this loss and therefore would not have the necessary time due the Public Works."

"I wish to thank all those who rallied to my support when I announced my candidacy and sincerely appreciate the time and energy they devoted to my cause."

Catholic Mass To Be Explained In Town Hall

A demonstration and explanation of the ceremonies and procedure of the Catholic Mass will be presented in Arlington Town Hall on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 1, under the auspices of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of St. Agnes' Parish.

An altar will be set up and all the ceremonies of the Mass demonstrated. (Continued on Page 5)

A lamentable situation, apparently a yearly thing, has come to light through the office of the Town Clerk.

As of Monday, only about fifty candidates had signified their intentions of running for election or reelection as Town Meeting members on March 5. There exists ninety-six vacancies.

Swelling the total of vacancies are those members who have moved from town or who have resigned for various reasons as well as those who are up for reelection this year.

Every year approximately one-third of the membership of 244 becomes open or vacant. If an insufficient number of candidates run to fill each precinct's roster, it is completed later by appointment at a meeting of the members.

Late yesterday afternoon a check with the Clerk's office showed that 17 additional candidates had given intentions of running. The correct figures, therefore, are: 96 vacancies, 67 contestants.

Decided improvement has occurred in Precincts 5, 10 and 14 where the total candidates in each is 8. With these exceptions the figures below are fairly current.

It will be noted that in only one precinct, No. 5, is there a contest, according to latest data.

ASSESSORS, VOTED OR APPOINTED?

One of the most controversial points under the town manager form of government is the office of assessor. Some believe that if they are appointed by the manager, it will give him too much power. They believe he could force a rise in assessments, thereby lowering the tax rate in order to make his, the manager's efforts look productive. They also think that he could play favorites.

Those that feel that the assessors should be appointed say that a good manager would appoint men of experience. They point out, too, that a manager of a business firm has the authority over receipts as well as disbursements. They counter with the argument that elected assessors may play favorites, too. We are told that the town manager committee discussed the assessors at length. By a majority vote the committee has recommended that the assessors be elected. Some committee members as well as several taxpayers at the hearing last week remain unconvinced.

We can understand the fear of too much power. We can understand the fear of too little power. We therefore suggest the following compromise:

Elect the assessors but with the stipulation that, if the town manager so requests, backed up by the approval of a majority of the Board of Selectmen, a reappraisal may be ordered by an outside firm.

Thus the manager, as well as the taxpayer, will be provided with some protection against some future, unscrupulous board of assessors. True, such a board has not and probably will not happen in the near future. However, it can happen. The motives could be not so much crookedness as vindictiveness—an effort by an elected board to discredit the manager for personal and political reasons.

In this way there would be a check and counter-check in this very technical facet of our government.

REPRESENTATION BY FRIENDSHIP

Unless drastic action is taken in a very few days, many representatives of the taxpayer will be selected by friendship rather than by ballot.

Figures obtained at the office of the Town Clerk on Monday show that there will exist ninety-six vacancies for Town Meeting Member on March 5, 1951. This includes terms that will expire then, plus those caused by change of address, resignation, and business pressure.

So far, only fifty persons have signified their intention of running for this all-important job. There looms, then, a deficiency of forty-six members and forty-six votes on any one question is a lot of votes.

How will the vacancies be filled? By law, the elected members of each precinct will meet after the Town Election and fill their individual precinct roster by appointment.

Whom will they appoint? Well, whom would you appoint? Naturally, people you know. And, we both agree, you tend to form friendships with people who think, act and believe as you do.

Under these conditions gone is truly representative government.

Let's not waste time and space to probe the responsibility of this lamentable condition. Let's have action and now!

WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

Often we have some gripe vs. the U. S. Post Office. One sees many humorous reports of errors and inefficiencies. In fact we recently published one concerning a package, addressed to Wakefield, which arrived there in a surprisingly short time considering the fact that it had gone to California and back.

This week we relate one on the plus side. A telegram was sent to a New York firm to rush shipment of important material. It was mailed Friday at 5 p.m. and arrived at an Arlington address, special delivery, at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

To:
TOWN COMMITTEES

Were not the few people attending the Town Manager hearing proof of the fact that, unless committees give out advance information on matters being considered, tentative decisions made, etc., there will be little public interest?

Discussions "up and down the street" are healthy. To simply announce a hearing is not enough. To bring decisions out only at Town Meeting is also too late and unfair.

That Man About Town

By MA7

The Arlington Safety Education Committee was formed some few weeks ago. It was entirely a spontaneous group of parents who were concerned with all kinds of accidents in town, but mainly with safety for children.

We understand that two parents contacted interested people in the various grammar school sections and arranged a meeting. This meeting developed into a full-blown committee.

TRIBUTE

(Dedicated to Cristine McManis who died January 2, 1951)

Another mother's eyes have closed, upon this vale of tears,
Another mother's ears are deaf to all life's cares and fears,
Another mother's heart ceased to throb to all life's joys and sorrows,
For she shall know but gladness now, on each tomorrow.

Another mother laid to rest, gone to her just reward,
To dwell in peace for evermore, in the Kingdom of the Lord,
And those she loved, and who loved her, will drop a silent tear,
In memory of her loving heart, each time her name they hear.

Gone but not forgotten
by her friend,
Frances.

CHRISTIAN PATIENCE

"... ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise." (Hebrews 10:36.)
Read Hebrews 10:23-36.

THRILLING is the story of how Thomas A. Edison patiently worked to invent a practical electric light bulb. Few men would have had the patience to continue after as many failures as he experienced.

In the Christian life patience is necessary in bringing our lives and those of others into conformity with the will of God. After praying, we must have patience to wait for God to speak to us.

Patience is not inactivity. It is required of us that we do the will of God and then wait until He fulfills His promises. It is not enough to find God's plan for our lives; we must conform also to His time schedule. The doors will open as we seek to know and then to do God's will. We have need of this kind of patience.

PRAYER

Our Father in heaven, we thank Thee that Thou hast guided the destinies of men in times past. We thank Thee that Thou dost care about us and guide us in this day. We would commit our lives anew to Thee. Illumine our minds. Direct our ways. Give us patience. Lead us in the way of eternal life. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

As a Christian I have need of patience.

PROTESTS COSTS
To the Editor
In your issue of Jan. 4 you state that "three streets were O.K'd by the Board of Survey on Tuesday, Jan. 2." You are in error when you state that a decided majority attending voted for acceptance.
I know nothing of the other two streets but the vote for Oak Hill Drive stood 8 for, and 25 against. Since then I have been told of three others who were absent from the meeting but were against the prohibitive charge which the town is making for the street.
If you really want to publish the whole truth then print this letter on your front page. I am merely a renter of part of a house but I'd like to see the taxpayers of Oak Hill Drive get a square deal, and if this project is forced upon them there is nothing fair or square about it in this town. We want a road that's fit to live on but not at the price the abutters are asked to pay, it is far too costly.
Sincerely,
Rose Hanke Giesler

Commuters' Column
White Steam
in the Morning Sun

As the temperature begins to hover around the zero mark, I notice commuters beginning to divide themselves into two groups. They're the fresh air fiends—the boys who stand out on the platform in the sun, shivering. The other group stay in the warmth of the station.

Last week I joined the fresh air boys—their coat collars turned up; their newspapers stuffed in pockets waiting to be read later on board the train. Opposite me two freight cars on a siding behind the local feed and grain store. About a dozen pigeons perched, puffed up and cold, on the ridge pole. The group didn't seem very talkative. It was as though their words and breath were frozen. As I approached, it seemed they had been speculating in a de-sultory way on the two freight cars, one marked Santa Fe, the other D. & H.

"The railroads use each other's cars in a way that is like a pool," I heard one guy say. "Sometimes a car is away from its home base six months or more."

"That's right," another said, "but they're not just idle. Sometimes they go back empty, but mostly they are filled with New England products going West, South or North."

"Must be a pretty complicated piece of bookkeeping," chipped in a third.

We heard the long whistle of the 8:08 about a mile down the track. The engine turned the bend. White steam caught the morning sun, billowing up and away against the clean, blue sky.

The group watched silently before such beauty.

Now I knew one reason why the fresh air crowd shunned the creature comforts of the radiator.

REPLIES TO "A READER"

January 11, 1951
To the Editor:
The December 21st issue of the Advocate published a letter signed by "A Reader" which was very critical and unfortunately somewhat misinformed about the extent and nature of the teaching of American History in Arlington's Public Schools.

To "A Reader" I make this reply: American History is taught to all pupils, specifically as such, at three different stages of their school careers—first, in grade five; second, in grades seven and eight (half-year in each); and third, in grade eleven or twelve. The approach and content in each of these three stages are adapted to what we believe are best fitted to the age, interests, and needs of the pupil.

Prevailing teaching places less emphasis on memory drills of presidents, dates, battles, generals, etc., than formerly was the case. More emphasis is placed on such matters as: how our country grew from frontier settlements to a great nation, an understanding of the cause and effects of great movements, the influence of outstanding leaders, the development of a true sense of patriotism through an appreciation of our heritage. The scope of history is so much broader today than it was in what seems only a few years ago, that it may be understandable that some things the pupil of another day had to learn are now passed over and new phases and developments receive emphasis instead.

Those of our high school students who annually take the College Entrance Examination in Social Studies (in the main a test on American History) have done well by measurable standards. The results have annually found them considerably better than the national average. Those who take this examination are a selective group and it would not be proper to claim that it is an accurate gauge for all our pupils.

Like "A Reader", there are times when the teacher finds results not encouraging. We have yet to discover the means and methods whereby, it can be assured that the pupil will retain the history that has been taught from books, lectures, pictures, maps, etc.

I will suggest that "A Reader" might have carried his "investigations" further than he did. Information gained from his son and his companions could have been and can still be supplemented by a direct approach to the source. I feel sure that our School Committee and Superintendent of Schools would help rather than hinder a citizen evincing serious interest in what is taught Arlington pupils. Personally, I would be very happy to sit down at some time and in confidence exchange facts and views with "A Reader." We are both seriously concerned about the same matter, are we not?

Sincerely yours,
Carl A. Johnson, head
Social Studies Dept.

Foresees Big Tax Impost By State

This session of the legislature will demand the most costly taxes ever imposed upon the people, Rep. Hollis M. Gott declared on Tuesday of this week.
"Today, alone, there are 70 bills being considered by 10 committees. There is a total of 175 bills before the Committee on Taxation of which I am the ranking Republican member."
On Tuesday morning Gott appeared before the House Ways and Means committee to support Bill No. 1511 which asks the State to pay back unexpended sums lodged in the sinking fund in proportionate shares to the cities and towns in the metropolitan district.
Arlington's share would be about $5800, Rep. Gott said.

Chimes Installed In Berglund Funeral Home

Installation of a set of 25 tone Amphion Cathedral chimes has been completed during the past week at the Berglund Funeral Home, for use in combination with the Hammond Organ.
The chimes consist of solid bars 1 1/4" in diameter and operate through electrical contact from a keyboard attached to the two manual organ and a five point volume control, producing an exquisite harmonious effect in combination with the organ music.
Music with or without chimes is available at all services conducted at the Home.
The Berglund Funeral Home was established in Cambridge twenty-six years ago and has been at its present location, 292 Massachusetts Ave. for the past twenty years. It is operated by its

Prospecting the Project

(ARLINGTON VETERANS' HOUSING PROJECT)
by Harriet Fitzgerald

I can't recall how many times that I have been asked "What is it like, living in a Housing Project?" With this in mind I set out to do a little snooping through the various parts of our Project to find out others' opinions. There aren't many people in Arlington who haven't seen or heard how wonderful the apartments themselves are and how much more comfortable and well laid out in comparison to the projects of various other cities and towns. Knowing this, I attempted to dig deeper to the intangible things which go to make up a home as distinct from the actual living accommodations.

For example, what do we think of our landlord, the Arlington Housing Authority and its general management policies? The answer, given to me by both veterans and their wives, was this: "We think they have been more than fair in all requests. We appreciate their leniency and above all thank them for the responsibility of a home of our own which is really what we have here." And still we have all the advantages of a rental, in that we are not responsible for damages not incurred by us. The veterans thank the Board for being cooperative and for their modern viewpoints.

One of their ideas which has helped this project become a more closely knit group is a tenant committee comprised of twelve representatives from the various parts of the project. These representatives act in the capacity of go-betweens in that they convey the ideas and opinions, the wants and dislikes, from the people to the authority.

Any person in the project may submit his idea to his representative who in turn takes it to a representative of the authority. Both sides are then debated by this committee until the problem has been taken care of satisfactorily and a recommendation, if any is needed, is taken to the Board. This tenant committee will change members from time to time to include all tenants living here.

In addition to the praise for the Board, I found that the majority of people I talked to always mentioned Mr. Robert Hauser, director of the project; Mrs. Allen, the office clerk; and Mr. J. C. McGillicuddy, maintenance man, (better known as Mac) for their tact and patience. There are no tenants who hesitate to speak to any one of these three, for you can bet your boots they are always ready to help you.

The reason we think this is worth mentioning? How many of you would be willing to face approximately 126 women and 275 children every day of the week?

A note of anxiety crept into the project late one night last week when little Bruce Hunt Jr., 20 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hunt, was seized by convulsion. Thanks to the combined efforts of the Special Service Truck of the Arlington Fire Department, the Police Department, and to Mrs. Reginald Hill, a former nurse, of 15 Fremont court and a close neighbor of the Hunts, who went to work at once to do everything in her power to help the doctor and firemen, little Bruce is out of danger and well on the road to recovery. Most of us did not know the Hunts intimately but a normal curiosity en-dowed in us by human nature brought a little gathering, some ready to help and all to sympathize. And many went home to bed only to lay awake and ponder the whole affair as a lesson in cooperation among the town departments, the facilities at hand, and the true feeling of neighborliness as exemplified by Mrs. Hill's actions.

When any damage is caused on the property surrounding the project everyone seems only too willing to condemn our children as the culprits. "In this case, being the greenhouses on Gardner st., three panes of glass have been broken. Thinking the matter over, it seems unlikely, as the majority of our offspring are too young to throw any object the required distance. It has also been brought to light in the past that quite a few older groups of boys, alien to the project, use it as a thoroughfare.

JOHN H. O'BRIEN of 319 Massachusetts ave., took out papers for assessor last week. Although he has not yet issued a formal statement, it is reported that he is surveying local tax problems and plans to seek reforms designed to lower homeowners' tax bills. O'Brien is a public relations counsel.

mission work in many countries. Dr. Ockenga said he had sober things to say and raised the question, "Can America be delivered?" He found the answer. First, we must confess our sins. Not until then would God answer prayers for peace.

Dr. Ockenga said, "Who pays for the alcohol? Where is the disgraceful divorce? Where is the profanity? Where is the immorality? Where is crime? Where is getting something for nothing? Are these things outside the church? No!"

"The moral life of this nation is at a new low. We have gone astray. What is it going to take to bring America to its knees? Can America be delivered? It depends not on guns but upon the church people," he declared.

"Turn ye! Repent, confess our sins, and God will deliver us," he said.

onstrated and the prayers recited just as in an actual service, except that the prayers will be said in English and suitable explanation will be interpreted.

Two priests of the Boston Archdiocese, the Rev. Frederick McManus, secretary of the Archdiocesan Tribunal, and the Rev. Albert Low, assistant supervisor of Diocesan Schools, who have been collaborating in demonstrations of this sort with extraordinary success, will conduct the event.

As the demonstration has proved highly interesting elsewhere both to Catholics and non-Catholics alike, a cordial invitation is extended to any non-Catholics who may be interested and members of St. Agnes' Parish have been urged to convey this invitation to non-Catholic friends.

Admission, which is free of charge, will, however, be by ticket only. Tickets will be made available to parishioners at St. Agnes' on Sunday next. Some will be saved at St. Agnes' rectory for non-Catholics who may apply. It is expected that the ticket supply will be rather promptly exhausted.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

LEAD LEAGUE IN LATIN VICTORY

Arlington spiraled into first place in the G.B.I. Hockey League Saturday with a 1-0 upset over favored Cambridge Latin when Don O'Brien slammed home a Scott Coolidge rebound with 6:25 of the last period gone.

Belmont's unexpected victory over Melrose by the same score downed another league leader and helped the Spy Pond basket team.

A more hotly-contested game could not be asked for with the game seething back and forth and a deadlock almost a certainty. The last five minutes found both teams exhausted as Arlington fought for its fourth victory in a row and Latin struggled to retain its flawless record.

A desperate Latin used its ace scorer, Johnny Murphy, who played with his left wrist in a cast protecting a possible broken bone.

Both goalies were superb in their net play as the score testifies. However, the "gas house gang" outshot Latin by 14-6.

Cellar-dwelling Stoneham will be the next opponent of the surprising sextet from Menotomy Town and a fairly easy victory is anticipated by the Burnsmen. But with upsets the rule this year, no team is to be taken lightly and the Spy Pond sextet is going all out to keep that lead.

Not to be outdone by skate-shoe schoolmates, Arlington's trackmen beat a swift Watertown team by a 43-34 score Saturday at the East Newton Street Armory.

Bill Squires, sensational miler, added another win to his impressive record for the mile. Teammate John DeMaso took the place position. The 1000-yd. jaunt also was added to the Arlington score when Bob Sullivan clipped off a win in 2:36.8.

The 300-yard run was taken care of by Bill Kenely, last season's grid general, in 38.1. The 50-yard dash and 45-yard hurdles went to Watertown, but Charles Leveroni soared to victory in the high jump, taking the bar at 5.4. He also managed a second in the 45-yard hurdles.

Added points from Wes Atwood and Steve Coffey helped the Menotomy Men as these two finished second and third in the 600-yard canter.

The win put Arlington in third place in the Division I standings with a 2-1 record.

Foul Shots Foul Red & Gray Hoopmen

"If we had only put in half of our foul shots, we'd be leading the league," said Coach George Lowder, mentor for Arlington's 1951 hoopmen.

After a fine start with a 41-36 win over Woburn, the Spy Pond quintet dropped three games in a row. All of these were by scores so close that high hopes are still held for the Spy Pond basket team in the ten remaining games.

The much-discussed Brookline game is still hanging fire with a decision coming in the near future. Principal Morrill and Coach Lowder both expressed their belief that the final ruling will be in favor of the Spy Ponders. After the side-line scorer had called the locals the winners, the official scorer declared it a tie.

Lowder has only one veteran, Captain Don Swanson. However, he says that the performances turned in by Ricky Power, new student and first string forward, give him reason to believe that the team may yet climb into a threatening position in the Suburban League race. Power scored 20 points against Rindge Friday.

In practice, Lowder revealed, the squad averages 15 out of 25 on foul shots, but when the pressure is on, the free throw average is worse than pop. The close scores of all the games show how precious those missed points were.

The Menotomy Men will be back in action Friday against Waltham. Following the Watch City clash, Arlington takes on league-leading Watertown.

Don O'Brien, all-around athlete at A. H. S., scored the only goal in the game with Cambridge Latin with less than four minutes remaining in the final period. This exceptionally hard-earned victory put the A. H. S. hockey team in first place in the G.B.I. League. It was their fourth successive victory following an opening game defeat.

The Class of '52 is hard at work trying to make their Junior Prom an outstanding success. The Prom is to be held at the Robbins Memorial Town Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 2. Come on, kids! Put the Class of '52 to shame by showing them that it is possible to have a Junior Prom!

The A. H. S. Girls' basketball team played its first game of the season against a strong Somerville team, and emerged victorious. Arlington's Margie Calahan was high scorer of the game with a total of 36 points. The final score—51 to 27. The seconds were not as fortunate. They lost a hard-fought game.

Friday, Jan. 12, the A. H. S. orchestra, with director L. Hassler Einzig, visited Winchester High to give a combined concert with the Winchester orchestra. The two groups will play at an A. H. S. assembly on Jan. 26.

The Gilbert and Sullivan Club of Arlington High School, under the direction of L. Hassler Einzig, is rehearsing for their annual spring musical production, which this year will be Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance".

Mr. Einzig reports that he has his usually fine, large chorus, and that leading roles will be assigned and announced in the very near future.

The dates of the show are April 6 and 7, Friday and Saturday evenings. It will be given, as always, in the Junior High East auditorium.

LUCK RIDES WITH A CRASH—A Navy skyraider attack bomber, damaged by anti-aircraft fire over Korea, bursts into flames (top) as it hits the deck of the aircraft carrier USS Philippine Sea. A moment later (bottom), the ship is a mass of flaming wreckage. Quick action on the part of a flight deck fire party extinguished the flames, and the pilot, miraculously only slightly burned, walked away under his own power. In the foreground is the engine, ripped from the fuselage by the impact of the crash.

FULL CHOIR SINGS FOR NEW YEAR'S BRIDE

At a special wedding ceremony on New Year's afternoon performed by the Rev. Robert E. Shea in St. James' Church, with the St. James' Girls' Choir providing music, Miss Patricia Baxter, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Baxter of 49 Lowell st. became the bride of Walter Timothy Galvin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Galvin of Newton, formerly of Warren st., Arlington.

The Girls' Choir of forty-voices, of which the bride is a member, was led by the director, Mrs. Arthur Linehan, with Miss Mary Carter as organist. They sang Christmas music preceding the ceremony, and during the ceremony their selections were "O Holy Night" and "Mother At Thy Feet". Assisting as altar boy was the bride's brother, Daniel Baxter. The altar was decorated with red poinsettias and carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin Colonial gown trimmed with lace. Her finger-tip veil of ivory illusion was attached to a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a prayer-book with gardenias and stephanotis.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Harold Duggan (Josephine Baxter) was gowned in powder-blue taffeta, Colonial style, with velvet bonnet and plumes of navy. The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Baxter, another sister of the bride, and Miss Elaine Holland, were similarly gowned in old-rose taffeta with velvet plumed bonnets of wine-color. All the attendants carried old-fashioned bouquets.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Baxter wore an orchid gown with black lace, mink stole, and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Galvin, the groom's mother, also had a gardenia corsage with her gown of black with white accessories.

The best man was Thomas J. Spellman, with Joseph Dalley and Harold Duggan as ushers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the decorations were of white poms and poinsettias. Miss Jean Ward, a cousin of the bride, had charge of the guest book. Special guests included the Rev. Robert E. Shea; Mrs. Timothy Galvin Sr. of Worcester, the groom's grandmother; and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Grace of Lynn.

Among pre-nuptial festivities was a bridal shower given by Miss Elaine Holland, for former school friends of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Galvin, who went on a motor trip to New York for their honeymoon, are making their home with Mrs. Galvin's parents at 49 Lowell st. Both are graduates of Arlington High School, he in the class of 1948 and she in 1950. Mr. Galvin is an electrician at the Raytheon Manufacturing Co., while Mrs. Galvin is employed in the office of the R. H. White Co. in Boston.

Miss Eleanor Viano

Bill McKeever To Run For Local Vet Housing Spot

William J. McKeever, well known Veterans' Administration executive and past commander of Post 29, American Legion, last week took out nomination papers for the Veterans' Housing Authority. A vacancy has been created by the resignation of Harold Magnuson, town Moderator. The unexpired term which runs until 1953 will be filled at the general town election in March.

McKeever has broad experience in the field of public housing having worked in various districts throughout the state, being advanced to supervisor of the Lawrence District of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation where he supervised 2200 accounts with a monthly billing of $60,000.00 and a personnel of four field representatives and three clerks.

Of particular importance is the fact that the Home Owners' Loan Corporation was the largest undertaking ever conceived in the field of home mortgage refinancing. As one of its district supervisors, McKeever had to be experienced in screening applicants to determine in which cases there was some dire distress existing on the part of the mortgagee, he points out.

As a result of this activity with this government sponsored aid-to-home-owners, he believes he has gained a vast knowledge of every phase of the mortgage banking business; familiarity with real estate and rental values, building construction, and relative material costs; the ability to appraise real property values; the ability to recommend repairs and renovations that protect the owner and the occupant; a knowledge of tax laws, and a clear understanding of the economic forces that influence real property.

In short, McKeever contends he has been well trained in all the housing problems that confront the Arlington Veterans' Housing Authority.

McKeever believes he has a thorough knowledge of the other problem of the Authority—the particular needs of veterans. His long experience assisting young men, with the execution of the forms and other services authorized by laws administered by the VA and the controlling regulations and instructions that pertain to them, has given him a direct contact with countless veterans and their needs, he feels.

As Veterans' Administrator for the "Cambridge Area," McKeever has already helped rehabilitate a large number of Arlington veterans, it is stated.

The bills call for the underground extension of the Harvard Square subway to Porter Square, and then overground to the vacant land just off the Concord Turnpike, where a terminal will be built.

Another bill calls for the conveyance of this land from the Metropolitan District Commission to the Metropolitan Transit Authority for the purpose of building the terminal.

The other bills call for an overpass, underpass or a traffic circle to be built at the junction of Massachusetts ave. and Alewife Brook Parkway at the Arlington Cambridge line, and for similar construction at the junction of Broadway and Alewife Brook Parkway at the Arlington-Somerville line.

Another bill asks for the building of an extension of Mystic Valley Parkway in Medford on the Medford side of the Mystic River to all traffic coming down from Winchester or Woburn to stay on the Medford side of the Mystic River instead of coming back in to Arlington. Still another call for the rerouting of Route 60 to Route 16 for pleasure vehicles.

The hearings should be of interest to the town's residents and officials.

TWO ARTICLES will be inserted in this year's Warrant by the Arlington Chamber of Commerce on Christmas lighting. One will ask the town to accept Sec. 6a, Chap. 40 of the General Laws which permits municipal advertising. The other will ask for an appropriation for ornamental lighting.

ARLINGTON LODGE, Sons of Italy of America, will hold its twenty-sixth annual meeting in Town Hall on Wednesday evening, Jan. 31. The affair is to be a costume ball (optional). Baron Hugo and his orchestra will provide the music. Prizes will be awarded for the best man's and the best lady's costume.

A SURVEY of all school buildings as to fitness as auxiliary hospitals and reception centers is being made for the Civil Defense dept. by Albert Platt, local architect, who volunteered his services.

Mary Toscano Wins Spelling Contest

Excitement was in the air at the Junior High East yesterday morning as the winners of the ninth grade home room spelling bees, sponsored by the Boston Herald, prepared to contend for the title of school champion. The school championship was won by Mary Toscano with Alice Lowell, runner-up.

At an assembly for the entire school at which Norman Peterson of the ninth grade presided, bees were conducted by Joseph H. Gaudet, assistant principal, assisted by three faculty judges, Miss Ruth Hunt, Miss Margaret Bubar and Robert Stevenson.

First the ten runners-up in the home room contests engaged in a spelling bee to determine a winner. Then came the five home room winners to determine which of them would represent the school at the Boston Herald semi-final spelling bees to be conducted in February.

Those participating in the first contest were John Brennan, Albert Carlisle, Ida Gochjian, Sandra Hale, Florence Iovanna, Cynthia Lawson, Norman Peterson, Jacqueline Quinn, Jean Spence and Harold Sulahian. The winner was Sandra Hale.

In the bee to determine the school winner the contestants were Thomas Atkinson, Gerald Harrison, Alice Lowell, Nancy Ogden and Mary Toscano. The survivor and winner of this grueling match was Mary Toscano. Runner-up was Alice Lowell.

Three Missing Boys Return To Homes

Three nerve-strained mothers rejoiced after three days and nights of anxious waiting when their run-away sons crept into the cellar of the home of one of the boys in the wee dawn hours after 72 hours of touring the bright waste of New York City. A fourth youth is still missing.

According to the stories told police by the boys, the missing boy financed the trip with money he had saved. The foursome left Friday morning by bus for Manhattan. Arriving there, they took a room in a hotel. At no time were they halted or questioned, despite their apparent youth.

The fourth boy reportedly told his companions that he was going to find a job. He had a ticket for Newark, N. J., but police searching for him there have found no trace. He did not reveal his plans any further.

Bad report cards were given as reasons for the sudden idea of leaving home.

DAN HOOLEY

(Continued from Page 1) ments and improvements of the park and playgrounds, including the establishment of a baggelp field and bath house with supervised bathing facilities adjacent to the Arlington Heights Reservoir, also the purchase of several areas throughout the town currently utilized as recreational centers.

Hooley resigned as Town Meeting member and Park Commissioner in Dec., 1942, when he became property and supply officer and control officer, Boston Ordnance District, Army Service Forces. Subsequently he became an examiner, Reconstruction Finance Corporation and claims adjudicator, War Assets Administration. He is associated with one of New England's foremost financial institutions.

He is a member of the Arlington Auxiliary Police Association, the Arlington Youth Administration, and the Committee to consider a Town Manager form of Government for the Town of Arlington. He has actively participated in many local charitable and community functions.

His family includes his wife, the former Margaret T. Shea, and two young daughters, Peggy and Eileen.

SCHOLARSHIP MUSICAL

(Continued from Page 1) will sing two German lieder "Auffenthal" by Schubert and Mendelssohn's "Auf Flügeln des Gesanges," followed on a beautiful love lyric by Heine. "On the Wings of Song," Miss Layton will also sing Mignon's plaintive song "Connaistu le pays" by Thomas followed by MacArthur's "Night."

Leo Litwin will play four selections for the piano chosen to stimulate and delight the audience. Two compositions by Debussy "Dr. Gradus ad Parnassum" and "General Lavine-Ecclésiastique." These two offerings by this leader of the French school are not too often heard, so this is really an opportunity to hear something different but yet proven by time. He will follow these with the tender "Ballade in G Minor" by Chopin. "Fantasy on Themes from Die Fledermaus" by Strauss will bring his performance to a rollicking close.

The trio which began the concert will return as a quartet with Donald March at the violin. They will conclude the concert with Mozart's gay "Quartette in C Major."

The refreshments will be provided by Mrs. Preston Ware, assisted by Mrs. Walter F. Walworth, Mrs. Roy B. Crosby, Miss Virginia Brooks and Mrs. Harold B. Wood.

The pourers will be Mrs. Herbert F. Wallace, Mrs. J. Philip Bower, Mrs. Leo Litwin and Mrs. Kenneth Barney.

The programs and ushers will be under the direction of Mrs. J. Philip Bower. The ticket committee consists of Mrs. Mortimer French, Mrs. Kenneth Barney, Mrs. William Hoyt and Mrs. George Gardner.

The scholarship committee includes, besides those mentioned above, Mrs. Frances Caldwell, chairman of the music committee, Miss Virginia Brooks, Mrs. Hector MacNeill, Mr. Winslow Betington, Mr. Allen Corbin, Mr. Dan Bruno, and Mr. William Hoyt.
